Steven Carroll

Steven Carroll is one of Australia's most talented writers and winner of the 2008 Miles Franklin Award.

His new novel is set in England in the summer of 1934 where the lives of two pairs of lovers intertwine. The story is based on the love affair between the unhappily married literary icon, T.S. Eliot and his childhood sweetheart, whose reunion in the rose garden of an abandoned house is accidentally witnessed by two young lovers from the local village.

The Lost Life is a beautifully written, moving and enthralling novel which explores the complexities of love at any age.
